The National Picture

BSA National has reorganized and restructured their support to local councils.

LUCIA D. CRONIN

Fast Tracks on the Advancement Trail for Cub Scouts

Lucia received the Silver Antelope Award from the Central Region at the BSA National Meeting in 2008 for distinguished service to youth. She developed the pilot delivery model for the Cub Scout Program. This model is currently being tested on a national level by all councils. Her model helps the den leader by organizing the Cub Scout den meeting and advancement into a timely schedule that if followed helps the leader complete the Cub Scouts rank advancement. All councils have shown increased boy retention. Come and learn first hand how to get this program started for your units.

BOB COONS

Building Strong Executive Boards for the BSA

Bob has a long history of instructing at Philmont Training Center and the BSA National Conventions. His 2008 contribution at the BSA National Convention and Philmont Training Center is "Building Strong Council Executive Boards for the Boy Scouts of America." Bob has 30 years of experience working with not-for-profit boards. Bob is President and CEO of Curative Care Network, a not for profit organization. Come and learn how you can improve the effectiveness of your council's board.
